SYSTEM LIMITATIONS

There are generally no error messages for invalid input. The database will only get valid data which is good, but the user will just see the app asking the same question. This may lead to confusion if the user does not know what is wrong in the input. An improvement would be to provide a message specifying how to fix it.